Table Collection

The Diffuse table collection is inspired by air flow and the movement of air through fan blades. Shown here are three versions of the design, Dining table, Side table and Coffee table.

The curved spiral appearance belies the basic construction method making the table appear extremely complicated while being very simple to manufacture.

Flat planes of timber are cut and placed on specific angles to obtain a dynamic and engaging support structure. The table tops can be constructed in timber or glass to giving different perspectives of the complex arrangement underneath.
